Design Guide

This guide contains ten font pairings and ten colour schemes. You can use any font pairing along with any colour scheme, and read below for recommendations on how to use them.

How to Use Your Colour Scheme

For each colour scheme, we recommend that you use both of the main colours provided and choose one of the two accent colours at the bottom of each page. Two accent colours were included so you have a choice and the capability to customize the colour scheme further, but they were not designed to be used together. You would also use white and black as supplementary colours in all of these colour schemes.

We recommend your colours be used in:

- Main 2 Colours: Headings, backgrounds of sections, icons.
- Accent Colour: Buttons, headings, icons, use sparingly to draw attention.
- White: Used as the background of your website. If white appears too stark you could replace with a very light grey such as #FAFAFA. Also can be used for the text of buttons or headings if the background colour in that section is too dark.
- Black: Used as the text of your website. If black appears too harsh you could replace with a very dark grey such as #323232.

For example, in the first colour scheme, you would use the two shades of grey as your main colours, and then you choose red OR yellow to be your accent colour.

If you want to do the reverse and have a dark background with lighter text, you can do so simply by switching the usages of white and black listed above. It's just important to remember to make sure your text is legible and your page isn't too dark overall, and know that using a dark background may not work with all of these colour schemes.

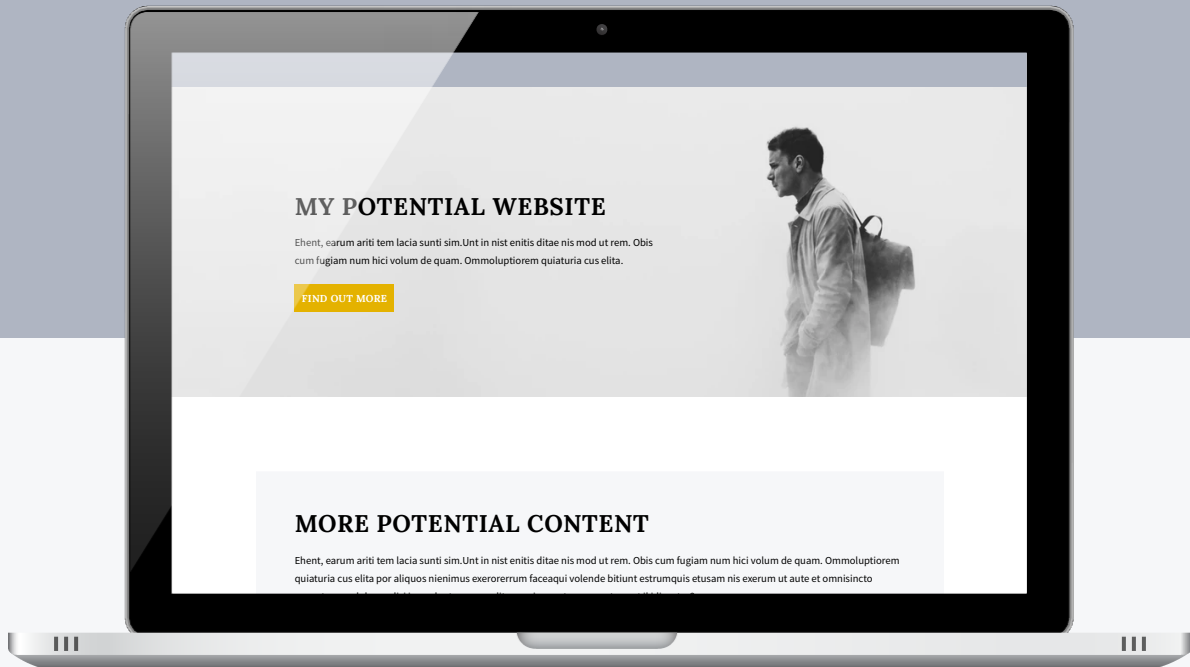

How to Use Your Font Pairing

For each font pairing, we recommend that you use only those two fonts throughout your website. The main font displayed in the header should be your header font, and the secondary font displayed in the paragraph should be your body font.

Your fonts should be used in:

- Header font: Headings, menu items, accent text, buttons, etc.
- Body font: Paragraphs, body text, lists, etc.
- Don't forget to consider things like line height, letter spacing, and font weight.
